Battery Education

What are the difference between battery types?.

in simple terms, batteries come in two basic types: single-use and rechargeable. Single-use batteries, also known as primary batteries, have one life cycle and must be replaced when drained. Examples include alkaline, carbon-zinc, silver-zinc and zinc air. Rechargeable batteries, also known as secondary batteries, can be recharged and used repeatedly. Examples of rechargeable batteries include nickel-metal hydride (NiMH), nickel cadmium (NiCd), lithium ion (Lilon) and sealed lead acid (SLA) batteries.

Rayovac® Heavy Duty

- Best for low-drain household electronics
- Great for remotes
- Value priced

Rayovac® UltraPro™ Alkaline

- Best for everyday electronics
- Most popular long-lasting power source
- Very good shelf life - up to 10 years

Rayovac® High Energy

- Best for high drain devices
- Engineered for superior performance
- Very good shelf life - up to 10 years

Rayovac® Rechargeables

- Best for frequent use & high drain devices
- Recharge hundreds of times
- Ready to use out of the package

Rayovac® Lithium

- Best for high tech & high drain devices
- High performance battery for the devices you rely on
- Very good shelf life - up to 10 years
- 33% lighter than alkaline systems

What is an L.E.D.?

L.E.D. stands for Light Emitting Diode. It's not a bulb; it does not use a filament. It's plastic with a phosphorous coating and metal conductor that produces light.

Measures of Comparison.

Watts: Measures the electrical power consumed by a light. The higher the watts the greater the power consumption.

Lumens: The "standard" in light output. The higher the lumens the brighter the light.

ANSI

(American National Standards Institute)

Lumens:
 A measure of the total power of light emitted. The higher the number, the brighter the light.

Beam Intensity:
 Maximum luminous intensity typically along the central axis of a cone of light.

Run Time:
 The length of time the flashlight will run with the batteries provided.

Water Resistant:
 Water splashed against the device from any direction shall have no harmful effects.

Impact Resistance:
 The degree to which a device resists damage from dropping on a solid surface.

Water Proof/Submersible:
 Ingress of water in quantities causing harmful effects shall not be possible when the enclosure is temporarily immersed in water under standardized conditions of pressure and time.

Beam Distance:
 A measure of how far from the device the beam of light reaches.
